I am very grateful to everyone who has contributed natural history records from Dry Drayton, either for my regular column in the village newsletter, or for this book.

Special thanks go to the Hook family and Ruth Edwards for their help in reviewing certain sections in this book, as well as being additional 'eyes and ears' for the parish fauna and flora ! Ruth Edwards has also kindly provided many of the moth records. John Hacker has been an invaluable source of information on all matters to do with village history and natural history and I have also drawn on John's collection of writings in 'Dry Drayton Remembered' which is a compilation of a number of pieces he has written for the village newsletter over the years.
